

The Foundational Value of Knowledge means to “seek and use the best knowledge”. As an entrepreneur, it is important that you are constantly seeking to understand the world around you, including the past. By doing so, you will demonstrate Opportunity by identifying problems that you can solve. And who knows - You may discover a new Passion along the way!

INSTRUCTIONS:

> In this activity, the world is your classroom! You will explore one of the links below and share what you learn.

RESOURCES:

> Explore a new place:

- Stuck at Home? These 12 Famous Museums Offer Virtual Tours You Can Take on Your Couch
- The Louvre
- Boston Children’s Museum
- San Diego Zoo
 - Live Animal Cams
- Monterey Bay Aquarium - Live Cams
- Georgia Aquarium - Live Cams
- Atlanta Zoo - Panda Cam
- Houston Zoo - Live Animal Cams
- Ellis Island - Field Trip
- Yellowstone National Park:
 - Mud Volcano Trail
 - Mammoth Hot Springs Trail
- The Great Wall of China
- Mars 360 View
- Farm Tours
- Discovery Education Field Trips:
 - Tundra Connections
 - Manufacturing Facilities
 - Johnson Space Center

> Learn a new skill:

- Khan Academy

> Discover ideas that spark your curiosity by watching to a TED-Ed video.

REFLECTION:

What did you learn about?

.....

.....

.....

What interested you about this?

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

If there was one thing you wanted me to know about this, what would it be?

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

After exploring and learning a little more about your topic, what questions do you now have?

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

Is exploring new things just for fun a worthwhile way to spend time? Why or why not?

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

How did you demonstrate the Foundational Value of Knowledge in your exploration?

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....